PERMITS ISSUED UNDER SECTION 14 OF
THE FISHERIES ACT (Northern Ireland) (1966)

APPLICATION FORM

Applications for a permit under Section 14 of the Fisheries Act (Northern Ireland) 1966.

Please read these guidance notes first.

What is a section 14 permit and why do I need one?

Section 14 of the Fisheries Act (Northern Ireland) 1966, as amended, provides exemptions for artificial propagation and improvement of a fishery. The Department may, by permit in writing, and subject to any conditions specified in the permit, authorise any named person to do, at any season of the year, such things as may be specified in the permit for the purpose of artificial propagation of salmon or freshwater fish or for the improvement of any inland fishery.

A section 14 permit authorises the holder to carry out activities which would normally be illegal. Examples of such activity would include catching and being in possession of salmon or trout by electric fishing for supportive breeding programmes, or catching fresh water fish by an approved method for transfer between inland fisheries.

In issuing a permit the Department must be satisfied that the purpose for which the permit is required conforms to current scientific advice and good fisheries management practice and that the persons authorised by the permit are competent. It is important, therefore that the applicant provides as much detail as possible so that the application can be properly assessed.

Applications for Section 14 permits MUST be received 7 working days before the start date of the operation.

A record of all the activities and results received under the authority of the permit when issued MUST be forwarded to the Department within one month of the date of the expiry of the permit.
